IN '20s THEME CLIMAX – THE ART OF IMPRO DECO!

Sydney's top comic improvisers put their wit and courage to the test as their teams battle each other to get their hands on the biggest, ugliest and FUNNIEST trophy in Australia.

The wildly popular 'cult' impro-comedy show has its 'mega' (always sell-out) Grand Final at the Enmore Theatre on Sat 12th and guarantees to deliver a mad capped night of instant scenes, poems, songs and even operas with absolutely no preparation time.

Among the TV and radio stars in this year's cup final are Triple J radio presenter and ABC TV science 'geek' Adam Spencer and Jay Laga'aia from The Lion King and Water Rats, cup holders Marco Mustac and Murray Fahey (directing the show) and national champions Michael Gregory, Nicky Parry and Tom Dunstan. Current champ John Knowles has a team with three international players new to Sydney audiences. With its 'classique' badge, this year sees no gimmicks, just raw comic genius.
